Reading

1 Read the text and answer the questions.

Welcome to Notting Hill Carnival!

It is the last weekend in August, and we are at the Notting Hill Carnival in London. The streets are full today. People are dancing and enjoying the carnival. They are wearing very colourful clothes: red, yellow, blue and orange costumes.

The bands are playing traditional calypso and samba music. Everybody is very happy. There are also sound systems with DJs playing reggae and hip-hop music. It is a great party.

The carnival takes place every year. It starts on a Saturday and finishes on a Monday. The Monday is always a public holiday. The Caribbean population of London organises the carnival, but many different people go. It is a multicultural event. About one million people go to the carnival every year.

Reading

1 Read the text. Read the sentences and choose the correct option.

Do you want to be a TV star?

Every Tuesday night on Channel 7, you can see Operation Cook. I like it because it is very interesting and you can see a lot of different foods.

In the first season, there were adults cooking. There were men and women from many countries in the world. There was food from China, from Pakistan, from Peru and from Britain.

This season, there are young people cooking. Then famous people eat the meals and say what their favourite meal is. This week there are two people cooking. Penelope from Spain is cooking Spanish paella and carrot cake. Kylie from Australia is making banana bread.

You need to be between 11 and 15 to be on the programme. The prize is 15,000 euros! Have you got a favourite meal? Can you cook it? Is it delicious? If your answer is 'yes', write to Operation Cook. You can be the next big TV star!

- 1 Operation Cook is a radio television show.
- 2 There were adults / famous people cooking in the first season.
- 3 This year, there are people from Britain / from different countries.

The Olympic Games

The Olympic Games are my favourite sports competition.

The Olympic Games are held every four years. The location changes from one city to another. In 2008, the Olympic Games will be in Beijing, China. In 2012, the Olympic Games will be in London, in the United Kingdom.

The athletes at the Olympics come from more than 100 countries. There are more than 20 sports. You can see athletics, gymnastics, basketball, swimming and a lot more sports. It normally starts early in the morning and it finishes late at night. Tickets are expensive, but you can watch the Olympics on TV all day.

I love the Olympic Games because you can see many sports, from football to running.
